My reading interests lie primarily in the fields of Historical Economics, Psychology, and Law. I've always been an advocate for helping others and global human rights. My ultimate academic goal is a Ph.D. in transnational and cross-border crime. Although Gujarat is where my parents raised me, Bhagalpur, Bihar is where I'll always consider home. Both my father have served in the military, and my mom works in the art field. During my time at the secondary school level, I focused on the business curriculum. I have a natural talent for enjoying cinema. What I do for fun is compose stories and experiment with video editing software.
