OBJECTIVE

I have always been passionate about learning interior designing and pursuing my career in this field. Working in the interior design field can provide me with the opportunity to express myself creatively on a regular basis. As an interior designer, I look forward to tackling a variety of projects, from restaurants to offices to homes, all for clients with different goals, tastes, and budgets. Each interior design project will present its own problems and challenges, giving me the chance to use all available resources.
